EMILY LAZAR, CHIEF MASTERING ENGINEER

EMILY LAZAR

CHIEF MASTERING ENGINEER

Emily Lazar, Grammy-nominated Chief Mastering Engineer at The Lodge, recognizes the integral role mastering plays in the creative musical process. Combining a decisive old-school style and sensibility with an intuitive and youthful knowledge of music and technology, Emily and her team capture the magic that can only be created in the right studio by the right people.

Founded by Emily in 1997, The Lodge is located in the heart of New York City's Greenwich Village. Equipped with state-of-the-art mastering, DVD authoring, surround sound, and specialized recording studios, The Lodge utilizes cutting-edge technologies and attracts both the industry's most renowned artists and prominent newcomers.

From its unique collection of outboard equipment to its sophisticated high-density digital audio workstations, The Lodge is furnished with specially handpicked pieces that lure both analog aficionados and digital audio-philes alike. Moreover, The Lodge is one of the few studios in the New York Metropolitan area with an in-house Ampex ATR-102 one-inch two-track tape machine for master playback, transfer and archival purposes.

As Chief Mastering Engineer, Emily's passion for integrating music with technology has been the driving force behind her success, enabling her to create some of the most distinctive sounding albums released in recent years. Her particular attention to detail and demand for artistic integrity is evident through her extensive body of work that spans genres and musical styles, and has made her a trailblazer in an industry notably lacking female representation.

Emily helped to launch the flagship Apple store in Soho with her presentation on the relationship between mastering and Apple Computers. Some of the esteemed artists she has worked with include: Depeche Mode, David Bowie, The Walkmen, Dean & Britta, Lou Reed, Björk, Armin van Buuren, Morrissey, Vampire Weekend, Foo Fighters, Jeff Buckley, Sonic Youth, Third Eye Blind, Natalie Merchant, Aimee Mann, Nadine Coyle (of Girls Aloud), Tiesto, The Shins, Donald Fagen, Beyoncé Knowles, Garbage, BT, The Donnas, The Naked & Famous, Fran Healy (of Travis), Sinéad O'Connor, Destiny's Child, Boy & Bear, Noah & The Whale, Simple Plan, Say Anything, The Morning Benders, Wu Tang Clan, Brand New, Against Me!, Vanessa Carlton, Sondre Lerche, Be Your Own Pet, Nada Surf, All American Rejects and The Prodigy to name a few. In addition, she has mastered original soundtracks for the following feature films: Training Day, Pokemon: The 1st Movie, Boys Don't Cry, Lucky Number Slevin, Six Feet Under, NBC series "Heroes" and The Punisher, among many others.

But even the most successful studios cannot just rest on their laurels. Seeing the potential for expansion, in 2004 The Lodge launched a production company with facilities in New York and Texas, as well as internationally in London and Tokyo. These advances make The Lodge one of the most comprehensive audio service facilities on the planet. Their team of award-winning composers and innovative producers has already won the acclaim of clients such as Mercedes, MTV and Disney.

Current articles on Emily Lazar include features in Artist Pro (cover story), Bust Magazine, Electronic Musician (cover story), Home Recording Magazine, Mix Magazine, Billboard, Pro Sound News, Medialine, Remix Magazine and Tape Op. She has been a featured panelist lecturing on college campuses and in numerous music business and recording conferences, and has been awarded the prestigious Palamountain Award for Young Alumni Achievement from Skidmore College. Lazar is also a highly publicized product endorsee for Avalon Design (audio equipment) and Apple Computers and is a recently elected governor for the Grammy NY Chapter.
